Anderson University Launches Making Movies with Windows Vista Course

Anderson, Ind. –Anderson University is pleased to announce the launch of "Making Movies with Windows Vista." This course will teach anyone with the Windows Vista operating system how to use the Movie Maker program that's part of Vista to create movies and slide shows complete with special effects, custom background music, sound effects, and narration.

"Making Movies with Windows Vista" is part Anderson University's growing catalog of more than 300 instructor-facilitated online courses. Through well-crafted lessons, expert online instruction, and interaction with fellow students, participants in these courses gain valuable knowledge at their convenience. They have the flexibility to study at their own pace combined with enough structure and support to complete the course. And they can access the classroom 24/7 from anywhere with an Internet connection.

New sessions of each course run every month. They last six weeks, with two new lessons being released weekly (for a total of 12). The courses are entirely Web-based with comprehensive lessons, quizzes, and assignments. A dedicated professional instructor facilitates every course; pacing learners, answering questions, giving feedback, and facilitating discussions.
