The material contained in the Anderson University School of Theology Catalog is for information only and does not constitute a contract between the student and the university. The catalog provides an overview of course offerings and content. It is not the official list of offerings for any given term. Students should consult the course schedule for the specific term(s) for which they wish to register. The university and its various units reserve the right to revise, amend, alter, and change from time to time its policies, rules, regulations, and financial charges including those related to admission, instruction, and graduation, without notice to students. The university reserves the right to withdraw curricula and specific courses, alter course content, change the calendar, and withdraw or change programs and majors offered by the university without notice to students.

Anderson University is a not-for-profit exempt organization as described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. In compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and 1991, and Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972, the university does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or veteran status in its policies, practices, or procedures. In compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 as amended, the university does not discriminate on the basis of disability in its educational programs, admissions procedures, and employment practices. In compliance with the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996, the university reports to the State of Indiana required information on newly hired employees. The university maintains compliance with the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act of 1989, the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, and the Health Insurance Protection and Portability Act.

*F*OR MORE THAN 60 YEARS,

Anderson University School of Theology has been actively involved in providing quality graduate theological education in the Midwest. Characterized by an aspiration to be biblical in orientation, missional in emphasis, and relational in spirit, the School of Theology has always strived to balance both service and scholarship.

Anderson University School of Theology is the only seminary of the Church of God (Anderson, Ind.). The ongoing relationship with the sponsoring church is valued, and a vital partnership is necessary to provide spiritual leaders for the church in the 21st century. The seminary community is enriched by the broader representation of the body of Christ in the student body as well as faculty and staff.

If you are interested in pursuing graduate theological education in response to God's call for ministry or because you have a desire to have a more informed understanding of your Christian faith, I would invite you to consider Anderson University School of Theology. If you do, I am confident you will discover a vital place to learn and grow.

Our prayer is that Anderson University School of Theology may be a place where scholarship, spirituality, and service are offered to the glory of God.

TRUSTEES

The School of Theology is a graduate school of Anderson University. The executive officers, the board of trustees, and the executive committee are the same as those currently listed in the Anderson University Undergraduate Catalog. The board of trustees of the university comprises 32 members. Six or seven are elected each year by the remaining members and then ratified by the General Assembly of the Church of God. A School of Theology committee, composed of six trustee members, gives governing oversight to the School of Theology program.

Institutional Goals and Relationships

HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE

Anderson University was established in 1917 as Anderson Bible Training School. The institution's history and development, which led to its university status, established the school's importance in Christian higher education in America. The School of Theology is part of that development. In 1950, a graduate division was established for the advanced professional preparation of ministerial students. This division is known as Anderson University School of Theology and is the graduate seminary of the Church of God (Anderson, Ind.).

Anderson University School of Theology affirms its relationship with both its parent university and the reform movement known within the Christian community as the Church of God (Anderson, Ind.). As the graduate seminary of the Church of God, Anderson University School of Theology is committed to the biblical essentials of Christian holiness and Church unity, which have been hallmarks of the movement's message for more than a century. Honoring the entire Christian heritage, Anderson University School of Theology aspires to be biblical in orientation, missional in emphasis, and relational in spirit.

Anderson University School of Theology achieved full accreditation by the Association of Theological Schools in 1965. It has continued to maintain that status and has been granted accreditation to grant the professional doctoral degree by the Higher Learning Commission, North Central Association (www.ncahigherlearningcommission.org; phone: (312) 263-0456). Membership is also held in several other organizations devoted to quality education.

For more information on the Association of Theological Schools, call (412) 788-6505 or visit their Web site: www.ats.edu.

INSTITUTIONAL GOVERNANCE

Anderson University is governed by a board of trustees whose members are elected to five-year terms and ratified by the General Assembly of the Church of God. The president of the institution is accountable to this board for general administration of the university and seminary, including their development, maintenance, and programs. The president of the university is ratified by the General Assembly for five-year terms.

An executive committee — consisting of the president and seven trustees elected by the board — acts on behalf of the full university board between its scheduled meetings. The dean of the School of Theology participates in meetings of the board. A six-member School of Theology committee of the board gives particular attention to the policies, personnel, and programs of the School of Theology.

In the beginning: Robert H. Reardon's vision for the School of Theology

As assistant to Anderson University President John A. Morrison in the late 1940s, Robert H. Reardon was a strong advocate for the establishment of a Church of God seminary in Anderson, Ind. In 1950, the vision became reality with the founding of the new Anderson School of Theology. Reardon was a charter member of the graduate faculty, and along with others, he contributed many books from his personal collection to start the seminary library.

— Robert Reardon was president of Anderson University from 1958 to 1983.

The faculty of the School of Theology operates under a grant of powers by the trustees and the administration. Within the spirit and intent of stated seminary objectives, the faculty is responsible for maintaining the academic programs of the seminary at their maximum effectiveness.

INSTITUTIONAL FOCUS

The School of Theology is a community dedicated to scholarship, spirituality, and service. The scholarship emphasis seeks to encourage and equip individuals in their quest for knowledge of the content and meaning of the Scriptures and the historical development of the Christian church and its faith, always promoting academic excellence in the pursuit of truth. The emphasis on spirituality facilitates spiritual growth, the formation of distinct Christian values, and the integration of self within the pattern of a godly life that makes ministry meaningful and honest. The service emphasis encourages active participation in ministry and sharing, imperative for Christian life and witness.

MISSION OF THE ANDERSON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

The mission of the School of Theology is to educate at the graduate professional level both men and women for Christian ministry. To this end, we are committed to being a community of scholars who are church-related, and in whose character and servanthood the following are vitally linked: biblical faith, academic integrity, Christian spirituality, love for individuals, and a responsible relation with the created order and all humankind.

In a context such as Anderson University School of Theology, it is important to foster the development of a lifestyle of inclusion and to use inclusive language, where appropriate, rather than exclusive language. (See “Covenant to Use Inclusive Language” in the School of Theology Student Handbook.)

Raising leaders: James Earl Massey on training ministers for service to a needy world

With students coming from diverse backgrounds, we needed not only to maintain the ethos of our movement’s life, but to share it with them. We not only needed to prepare competent leaders for churches, but to help our students be received as creative and credible moral voices in a society woefully lacking in integrity and a sense of values. We realized we could help them best through accenting scholarship, spirituality, and service.

— James Earl Massey, dean of the seminary from 1989 to 1995.

The big picture: Building scholars of integrity in the context of community life

The faculty and staff of the School of Theology are committed to the development of servant leaders in the fulfillment of the biblical mandate to follow Jesus Christ into all the world. We value the uncovering of what this means within the postmodern context of our society and world. The spiritual formation of men and women is a central focus of the integration and preparation of ministerial students toward that end. Whether preparing for service as pastors of local congregations, leaders within churches, or as cross-cultural mission personnel, an informed scholar of integrity is our intent. The School of Theology values spiritual formation as a central integration point of preparation for ministry. This integration complements the academic disciplines. Students and faculty are encouraged to share together in the community life of faith through chapel attendance, small prayer groups, spiritual formation groups, and personal meditation. Active participation in the life of a local congregation is also highly desirable.

Facilities

YORK SEMINARY VILLAGE

The York Seminary Village provides apartment-style housing for School of Theology students. This new complex, completed in two phases during 2006 and 2007, contains eight buildings with a total of 18 individual living units.

These units, within walking distance of the seminary building, provide standard amenities, including two parking spaces for each unit; wired and wireless Internet access provided through the university's computer network; cable television access, which residents must pay for if they choose to order it; refrigerator, stove, dishwasher, in-sink garbage disposal, "instant hot water" faucet, washer and dryer, and central air-conditioning; telephone service with voice mail provided; all-electric/no gas (residents required to pay their own electric bills); and water and sewage bills paid by the university.

Available floor plans include:

- one-bedroom unit (530 square feet; four units available) for one student, a single parent with one pre-teen child, or a married couple.
- two-bedroom unit (1,050 or 1,260 square feet; three units available) for two same-gender single students, a single parent with children, or a married couple with children.
- three-bedroom unit (1,280 or 1,500 square feet; four units available) for three same-gender single students, a single parent with children, or a married couple with children.

To apply for housing in York Seminary Village, students must complete a housing reservation form and submit the required fee. Forms are available in the Office of Students Services at the School of Theology, or on the Web at www.anderson.edu/sot. To request a form by mail, contact the student services coordinator, Anderson University School of Theology, 1100 E. 5th St., Anderson IN, 46012. You may also request a form by e-mail to clallbaugh@anderson.edu or by phone at (765) 641-4030.

The School of Theology building was constructed in 1961 and extensively remodeled in 1974. In 1989, the School of Theology was connected to the Robert A. Nicholson University Library. In 2009 an extensive upgrade of the building was completed. The School of Theology building houses administration and faculty offices, classrooms, a student lounge, and other facilities important to the educational environment.

- Adam W. Miller Chapel: The Adam W. Miller Chapel opened in 1974 as a sanctuary for the worship of God. It provides a functional worship context for seminary training with spiritual insight as well as academic rigor. Chapel is held weekly throughout the academic year in this facility.
- Robert A. Nicholson University Library: The former undergraduate Wilson Library and the School of Theology Byrd Library were combined in 1989 to create the Robert A. Nicholson University Library, an extensive resource in ministerial education with collections directly supporting graduate theological programs. The library holds membership in the American Theological Library Association (ATLA) and the Indiana Cooperative Library Services Authority (INCOLSA) and participates in Online Computer Library Center (OCLC), a nationally shared bibliographic data network. The School of Theology is physically connected to the library.
- Church of God Archives: The archives of the Church of God (Anderson, Ind.), together with the archives of Anderson University and Charles E. Wilson, are housed in a separate area within the Robert A. Nicholson Library. The Church of God archives provide a resource for ministers and scholars researching the heritage of the Church of God.
- Gustav Jeeninga Museum of Bible and Near Eastern Studies: This teaching museum houses a large collection of artifacts from ancient Near Eastern cultures. The museum exhibits artifacts ranging from 3000 BCE to 200 CE. These exhibits consist of authentic pieces, such as cuneiform texts, pottery, seals, and coins, and replicas of major artifacts, including the Shalmenesar Obelisk, Mesha Stele, Hammurabi Law Code, Rosetta Stone, Sennacherib Prism, Gilgamesh Epic, and the Siloam Inscription. The museum displays a large collection of authentic pottery from the Bronze Age settlement of Bad edh-Dhra, located in modern-day Jordan.
- Computer Lab: A fully equipped, eight-station computer lab is available for the exclusive use of School of Theology students. Internet and online services, along with the full package of software, provide students with up-to-date technical services.
- B.E. Warren Lounge: Located on the lower level of the seminary across from the mailboxes, Warren Lounge provides students a cozy place for fellowship, studying, and relaxing between classes. The lounge has a telephone and a kitchen with a microwave oven for seminary use.

ANDERSON UNIVERSITY FACILITIES

The School of Theology benefits from being part of Anderson University. Through this relationship, our students may make full use of Anderson University's extensive educational services and recreational facilities. These include the Kardatzke Wellness Center, lounges, swimming pool, tennis courts, gymnasium, athletic field and track, Center for Educational Technology, Kissinger Learning Center, Reardon Auditorium for the performing arts, post office, bookstore, Olt Student Center, snack bar, the Krannert Fine Arts Center, Byrum Hall for theatrical presentation, and many other services and facilities.

- Kardatzke Wellness Center: Completed and connected to O. C. Lewis Gymnasium and Bennett Natatorium in 2002; houses a large fieldhouse, weight room, fitness center, indoor tracks, athletic training facilities, classrooms, intercollegiate athletics offices, and the Department of Kinesiology. The Wellness Center also serves as the venue for commencement exercises.
- Soccer Field: Home of the Raven men's and women's soccer teams.
- Olt Student Center: Completed in 1963; houses the Marketplace, Raven's Haven, Mocha Joe's, the Corner Pocket, private dining rooms, the bookstore, student government offices, and the Office of Student Activities.

AUDITORIUMS/PERFORMANCE FACILITIES

- Byrum Hall: Completed in 1908, renovated in 1974; a campus landmark once used for basketball games and physical education classes; houses a 530-seat proscenium theatre.
- Reardon Auditorium: Completed in 1983; seats 2,200; used primarily for chapel/convocation, performance events, and conferences.

OTHER FACILITIES

- Bolitho House: Houses the Office of Student Health Services.
- Boyes House: Completed in 1968; home of the Anderson University president and his family.
- Morrison House: Houses the Offices of Spiritual Life and Counseling Services.
- Smith House: Houses the Offices of Publications and University Communications.

Service in View of the Kingdom of God

Service in view of the kingdom of God requires that disciples of Jesus love God with our whole being and love our neighbor as ourselves. To serve in this way does not take us out of the world, but more faithfully to witness to the love of God in the world. We want to be servants and not just do service. The School of Theology desires to have at its core a compelling witness of service in all we do. — Dr. James W. Lewis, professor of theology and ethics and associate dean of the School of Theology

Faculty and Student Organizations

FACULTY COMMITTEES

- Academic Cabinet: The Academic Cabinet acts on behalf of the faculty of the School of Theology in regard to student petitions and other academic matters judged to be manageable within standing faculty guidelines. When major issues arise involving academic policy formation or alteration, the Academic Cabinet serves the faculty as a vehicle of initial hearing and refinement en route to full faculty consideration.
- Admissions and Academic Standards Committee: The Admissions and Academic Standards Committee is administratively responsible for processing student applications for admission. This committee is also responsible for reviewing student academic progress and for monitoring the progress of students experiencing difficulty in academic work.
- Assessment and Nurture Committee: The Assessment and Nurture Committee oversees the professional development of students through assessment of their attitudes and personalities upon entrance to the seminary and comparative assessment prior to graduation. The committee attempts to guide and nurture the personal and professional development of students by sharing results of the assessment and referring students to resources for facilitating their professional and personal growth.
- Chapel and Spiritual Life Committee: The Chapel and Spiritual Life Committee plans and maintains chapel programming and other events for cultivating the spiritual life of members of the seminary community.
- Doctor of Ministry Studies Committee: This committee is responsible for developing, maintaining, administering, and evaluating the Doctor of Ministry degree program. The committee is chaired by the director of the Doctor of Ministry Studies Program; other members include the dean and two faculty members jointly appointed by the dean and the director for terms of two years beginning June 1 of each year. The terms are staggered, one appointment each year.
- Faculty Development Committee: This committee's role is to be informed of professional development opportunities and to advise the dean of the School of Theology on related policies, issues, and events. It annually determines the priority needs and consequent distribution of available resources to the faculty as a whole, to groups within the faculty, or to individual faculty members for development purposes. The committee develops guidelines for the annual distribution of available funds and communicates these to the seminary faculty.
- Financial Aid and Awards Committee: The Financial Aid and Awards Committee administers the funds allocated for awards and student financial aid according to standing guidelines. This committee administers the Boyce W. Blackwelder Seminary Tuition Fund, various endowment and grant funds for student aid, and several annual awards.
- Library Advisory Committee: The Anderson University Library Advisory Committee advises the administration regarding the policies maintained and services provided by the library.
- Promotion and Tenure Review Committee: This committee serves in an advisory capacity with the dean of the School of Theology in matters of faculty evaluation and promotion. It also serves as a hearing committee in any matter related to the discontinuance of a School of Theology faculty member.

COMMUNITY LIFE

- Seminary Community Council: The Seminary Community Council is the vehicle through which the School of Theology plans its common life of fellowship and service. Task groups implement corporate expressions of witness and service, devotional, social, recreational, and publication activities.
- Women in Ministry: Women in Ministry provides opportunities for women to become an integral part of the seminary community, to relate with all individuals within the community, to reflect on what it means to be a woman and a minister in the church, and to explore and communicate crucial issues regarding individuals in ministry.

Pre-Seminary Education

It is not possible to prescribe one pattern as normative for all pre-seminary education. Widely varying emphases and settings of ministry encourage a variety of educational backgrounds. Nonetheless, it is possible and desirable to identify categories of learning which typically are foundational for graduate theological education.

- Effective communication skills: Effective communication skills are essential for both interpreting and communicating the faith of the church. The ability to read, write, and speak standard written English is vital. Students are also encouraged to have a reading knowledge of at least one language other than English. It is highly desirable that a reading knowledge of Greek and Hebrew be developed as a basic tool for meaningful graduate theological education. Additional language skills might be essential, depending on vocational intent and the setting of potential ministry.
- Liberal arts or humanities: General understandings of human selfhood and existence, modern social institutions and problems, culture and religion, science and technology, and the modes of understanding are helpful in theological education. A considerable degree of competence should be developed in one or more of the categories of learning noted above. Such competence often is represented by a major in a field such as philosophy, sociology, psychology, or history of civilization. Students are expected to have had some academic experience in the fields of philosophy, sociology, psychology, and history.
- Theological or religious studies: Theological understandings of major religious traditions and the contemporary questions of values and faith in the context of the humanities and communication skills is important. Knowledge of the nature and content of the biblical materials is of particular significance as a foundation for graduate training in Christian ministry.

Admission Requirements and Procedures

The School of Theology welcomes qualified students regardless of nationality, race, age, gender, or disability. Admission is granted on the basis of the following criteria.

- Submission of a fully completed application for admission, including transcripts of all academic work beyond high school.
- Presentation of formal evidence that the applicant holds a standard four-year baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university.
- Evidence of the ability to write on an appropriate level through essays written for the application process. (Applicants who are judged to not meet appropriate writing standards may be admitted on a provisional basis and may be required to do remedial work.)
- Possession of the moral character, emotional maturity, and vocational motivation appropriate and necessary for the high calling of Christian ministry.

Please note that some students may be granted provisional acceptance at the discretion of the Anderson University School of Theology. Students with questions concerning their academic background as noted in the process above should contact the Office of Seminary Advancement.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT REQUIREMENTS

Intercultural and cross-cultural experiences help prepare individuals for living as world citizens and for accepting one another as equal members of the human family. In understanding another culture, people can better understand themselves and their place in the created order.

Anderson University and the School of Theology are registered with and approved by U.S. Department of Justice, Immigration and Naturalization Services, for the attendance and enrolling of students into degree programs who are citizens of other countries and the issuance of authorization form I-20 for F-1 type visas.

A limited number of international students may enroll. Each applicant for admission is considered individually on the merits of education, citizenship, and basic religious faith; as much information as possible is gathered to determine the suitability of Anderson University and the School of Theology to the student's needs, as well as the student's suitability to the institution. The student's plans and past activities in home, community, school, and church are considered in the admissions process.

Application forms and all documents including transcripts must be on file with the School of Theology Office of Student Services before June 1 for August/September admission. Applicants are required to participate in the orientation program if admitted. It is recommended that international students allow at least 12 to 15 months from first correspondence for completion of the necessary filing and financial assurance requirements prior to desired beginning of study.

Completed application and admission process is required from all applicants prior to acceptance by the Admissions and Academic Standards Committee and issuance of the I-20 form for Student Visa F-1 status. English proficiency is required when home language is non-English; TOEFL scores of 550 (paper-based), TOEFL scores of 213 (computer-based) or above, or Michigan test of English scores are accepted as such documentation of proficiency.

Financial assistance is quite limited, including on-campus employment, and is usually not available before the student's second year on campus. The various forms required are processed through the Anderson University Office of International Student Services.

TRANSFER OF CREDIT

Students entering the School of Theology from other seminaries accredited by the Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada will normally receive appropriate transfer of academic credit upon evaluation of an official transcript. In all cases, however, the residency requirement applies.

The transfer of credit that a student uses for a required course at the School of Theology will be the official course recorded toward the completion of degree requirements. The GPA is not calculated on this transfer course, but the course requirement is fulfilled with this transfer of credit. However, if a student received a transfer of credit for a required course at the School of Theology, then takes this required course, the transfer of credit is removed and the course grade received at the Anderson University School of Theology is considered the official credit and grade of record.

School of Theology students wishing to have transcripts of their work forwarded to other institutions should submit a written request to the registrar. All financial obligations must be satisfactorily arranged before transcripts will be sent.

REMOVAL OF ADMISSION DEFICIENCIES

The seminary judges an applicant's credentials and reserves the right to determine admission deficiencies. In the event that academic admission deficiencies are determined, applicants may satisfy these through additional undergraduate coursework or other learning experiences as defined by the Admissions and Academic Standards Committee. Such work may be concurrent with regular seminary enrollment. Students with admission deficiencies will not be permitted to enroll in more than 12 hours of graduate work until all admission deficiencies have been removed.

ORIENTATION PROGRAM

The opportunity for introducing new students to the ideals, standards, programs, and activities of the School of Theology is provided during the orientation program, which immediately precedes the opening of each semester (Semesters I and II). An important part of orientation is a series of diagnostic procedures which deal with motivation for ministry and personality and mental maturity. These tests assist the school in providing appropriate guidance to students.

Completion of these diagnostic procedures is mandatory for all degree candidates and optional for special students. Specific information regarding dates and schedule for orientation activities is provided to new students before the beginning of each semester. (See Degree Programs in this catalog for specific admission requirements for each degree.)

Tuition and Fees

TUITION

Payment of tuition and fees is expected at the time of registration. Students may wish to enroll with Tuition Management Systems in order to make monthly payments. Information is available from the Anderson University Office of Student Financial Services or the School of Theology Office of Student Services. Registrations not accompanied by full payment or appropriate financial arrangements will be canceled. Financial aid cannot be regarded as appropriate down payment.

Registration constitutes a contractual agreement between the seminary and the student. If enrollees withdraw from all classes after classes have begun, or reduce the number of hours carried, they might be entitled to a reduction in charges for tuition. The following scale is used if withdrawal or schedule revision occurs on or before the end of:

- first week of classes — 90 percent reduction
- second week of classes — 80 percent reduction
- third week of classes — 60 percent reduction
- fourth week of classes — 40 percent reduction
- fifth week of classes — 20 percent reduction
- sixth week of classes — no reduction

CLINICAL PASTORAL EDUCATION FEES

Students registering for THFE 7730 (Clinical Pastoral Education) will be charged at the regular tuition rate. The School of Theology will pay the agency administering the program the student's program fee up to but not to exceed the tuition paid for the credit hours. No student may repeat this course with the above financial privilege.

Current tuition and fee structures may be reviewed at www.anderson.edu/sot/about/fees.pdf.

ROOM AND BOARD

York Seminary Village serves as the only source of graduate housing. If no vacancies are available in York Seminary Village at the time of admission or if a student is interested in other options, the seminary will attempt to assist the student in identifying potential housing in the area. Applications and costs for York Seminary Village may be obtained from the seminary's coordinator of student services. For students interested in a regular meal service on campus, meal plans are available through Anderson University Dining Services, located in the Olt Student Center. For more information, call Dining Services at (765) 641-4260.

HEALTH SERVICES AND INSURANCE

The Anderson University Office of Student Health Services seeks to provide comprehensive health services to all students. Offerings include immediate care, health counseling, referrals, and wellness education. University health services are available to seminary students but not spouses or children. In addition, the university makes available a student health insurance plan at an affordable premium. Students who participate in this plan may also purchase additional coverage for spouses and/or children. The School of Theology strongly urges students to have health insurance. For more information, contact the Office of Human Resources at (765) 641-4132, or go to www.anderson.edu/humres on the Web.

VETERANS BENEFITS

Anderson University complies with regulations of the State of Indiana Department of Veterans Affairs, Veterans Educational Unit, including approval of the university calendar, tuition and fees schedule, and the academic policies of the university. The university is authorized to enroll recipients of Veterans Administration benefits in regularly scheduled credit courses leading to standard college degrees.

Inquiries concerning eligibility should be directed to the Veterans Administration office in the veteran's home area. Anyone planning to study under one of the education chapters should receive approval before enrolling. More information is available online at www.anderson.edu/registrar/veteransbenefits.html.

Student Life Policies

Anderson University School of Theology is a part of Anderson University, which is a church-related institution sponsored by the Church of God. Overall campus standards have grown out of the following qualities of campus life valued by the institution: love of God, self, and neighbor; respect for people; honesty and integrity; reconciliation; freedom within restraint; health and wellness; spiritual growth and maturity; and the joy and pleasure of life. Students attending the university agree to conduct themselves as responsible citizens and actively contribute to the quality of social, spiritual, and intellectual life. School of Theology policies are set forth in the student handbook and other university documents; seminary students are expected to familiarize themselves with these policies and abide by them. Violation of the School of Theology and overall university policies subjects students to disciplinary action which could include warning, probation, or dismissal (see Appendix F of the School of Theology Student Handbook). Seminary students will find the applicable student handbook at: www.anderson.edu/sot/about/handbook.pdf.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES

Students may at times believe themselves to be subject to unfair academic evaluation. Students who have any such grievances have the right to make an appeal and to receive a fair hearing. Students should refer to Appendix D: "Procedure for Student Appeal of Grades or other Grievance Concerning Evaluation Policies or Procedures" in the School of Theology Student Handbook.

Financial Aid and Awards

The School of Theology's financial aid program is administered by the Financial Aid and Awards Committee for both Church of God and non-Church of God students. Sources of student aid (listed below) include scholarships, grants, and loans.

It is important to note that while most students will receive some financial aid, many seminary students meet a portion of their educational and living expenses through part-time employment in a church or other work secured within the local community.

All applications for government loans and/or loan deferments are processed by the Anderson University Office of Student Financial Services, located in Decker Hall. Applications for financial aid may be obtained through the School of Theology's Office of Student Services. A complete listing of policies may also be obtained from this office.

International Students should refer to the "International Student Requirements" set forth in this catalog (page 17) for additional information.

Applications for financial aid may be secured from the Office of Student Financial Services. Financial aid will not be awarded to students with "incompletes" remaining on their records four months after the final day of an academic term.

SOURCES FOR STUDENT AID:

Financial aid is awarded to both Church of God and non-Church of God students based on financial need and available funds. Financial aid forms must be completed in order to be eligible for awards. The following categories are the sources for seminary student aid.

- Boyce W. Blackwell Seminary Tuition Fund (Church of God, Anderson, Ind., students only)
- Endowments that create annual scholarship funds for all students
- Student loan funds

BOYCE W. BLACKWELDER SEMINARY TUITION FUND FOR CHURCH OF GOD STUDENTS

In June 1974, the General Assembly of the Church of God (Anderson, Ind.), on recommendation of its Special Advisory Committee on Anderson University School of Theology, adopted a resolution directing the church's Division of World Service to raise funding from the church annually to assist Church of God ministerial students with the cost of their graduate training at the church's seminary. The fund honors the late Dr. Blackwelder, a member of the seminary faculty and longtime Church of God preacher and author.

All disbursements assume that students receiving funds will meet the qualifications intended by the Church of God. Such qualifications will be verified in a formal annual application process. Returning students must apply by May 1 for assistance during the following school year. New and transfer students must apply by July 1.

ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIPS AND LOANS

Anderson University School of Theology is extremely grateful for the many alumni and special friends who have provided gifts for endowed scholarships, grants, loans, and special awards to assist students with their seminary education.

To be considered for awards from any and all of these sources, students and prospective students need to submit only one application for financial aid. Applications for financial aid are available online at www.anderson.edu/sot. Please print, complete, and mail the application to:

Student Services Coordinator
Anderson School of Theology
1100 East Fifth St.
Anderson, IN 46012

Applications for financial aid are also available in the Student Services Office at the seminary.

ANNUAL AWARDS

There are several endowed awards that are given to eligible students by nomination and vote of the seminary faculty. These awards are normally given at the end of an academic year.

- Distinguished Senior Award: Established by former dean Barry L. Callen in honor of his grandfathers and dedicated servants of God, the Rev. Charles B. Callen and Charles G. Van Arsdale. It is awarded to a graduating Master of Divinity student who has demonstrated excellence in both personal and professional preparation for Christian ministry, chosen by nomination of the Financial Aid and Awards Committee and vote of the seminary faculty.
- William Clinton Bryant Memorial Award: Established by First Church of God, Mt. Sterling, Ky., in memory of their pastor who lost his life in an air crash in 2002.
- Clarence and Goldie Ellis Preaching Awards: Established by William C. (Bill) Ellis on behalf of the family to further the ministry of biblical preaching. Two annual awards are made to seminarians selected by the Financial Aid and Awards Committee.
- Chester L. Gerig Sr. Memorial Award: The family of Chester Gerig, a committed layperson of the Church of God, established the Chester Gerig Memorial Fund. The award is given annually to the graduating senior, selected by the faculty, who has shown persistence in pursuing a graduate degree in theological education. This award shall be used at the discretion of the graduating senior.
- Harry L. and Henrietta Harp Memorial Award: The family of the Rev. Harry L. and Henrietta Harp, well-known ministers of the Church of God and outstanding leaders of the church, established this memorial fund. The award is given annually to the graduating senior selected by the faculty to have made the most outstanding accomplishment in congregational ministries. This award shall be used to provide tools for continuing education, such as books, technology, tapes, or seminars of the recipient's own choosing.

- Aletta and Gustav Jeeninga Museum Scholarship: This annual award provides a scholarship for a seminarian who demonstrates academic achievement and interest in biblical archaeology. This endowed scholarship was established by Aletta and Gustav Jeeninga, longtime faculty member and museum founder at Anderson University. The SOT biblical studies faculty determines the award recipient.
- Claudena Eller Kufeldt Memorial Award: This annual award is given to the student who has done the most outstanding work in Christian education. This memorial award has been established by the faculty, staff, and friends of Anderson University and the School of Theology in recognition of Claudena Kufeldt's contribution to the field of education.
- Kathryn Rider Kufeldt Memorial Award: This annual award is available for the best hymn lyric submitted to the Financial Aid and Awards Committee. This memorial award was set up by the husband of Kathryn Kufeldt to encourage students of the School of Theology to do creative work in the hymn lyric field.

Degree Programs

PHILOSOPHY OF DEGREE PROGRAMS

The School of Theology has built all of its degree programs on the academic base of a baccalaureate degree. The School of Theology recommends careful adherence to the section on Pre-Seminary Education as the basis for ministerial preparation.

All programs are developed in response to the expressed needs of the church and of students desiring preparation for a wide range of Christian ministries. All programs are based on the following assumptions:

- Preparation for Christian vocation must be biblically based.
- In-depth theological understandings and historical perspectives are essential to competence in all Christian vocations.
- Knowledge must be tested in experience. Accordingly, clinical training and field education are essential elements of the curriculum.

Doctor of Ministry

Working within the framework and focus of the mission statement of the School of Theology, the philosophy of the Doctor of Ministry program is as follows:

All the research, coursework, interaction, and reflection of the Doctor of Ministry degree are designed to enhance the professional competence of already seasoned ministers. The focus of the degree is on the ministerial settings where they presently serve. The degree is to be understood as the development of a more carefully defined ministerial role in the local setting rather than merely as an enhanced academic status. Although academic criteria are crucial to the program, the chief aim is to assist each participant in both the critical analysis and further enrichment of his or her ministry. The program provides the context in which professional ministers can hone their analytical and reflective skills. They do so in conjunction both with other professional ministers and with academics whose focus is on the practice of ministry. The purpose of this professional and academic collaboration is to make significant contributions to the field of professional ministry in general.

The Doctor of Ministry degree is the only doctoral-level program that requires ministry in a local setting. It necessitates partnership with a local community of faith. Partnership is a key word in the Anderson Doctor of Ministry philosophy — partnership with the local ministerial setting, partnership with the local professional ministry, partnership with the academic community, and partnership with other professionals who are participants in doctoral studies.

It is intended that all graduates of the Doctor of Ministry program will have enhanced professional competence in the practice of ministry, with a focus on scholarship, spirituality, and service. This is what we refer to as The Anderson Way: an intentional integration of serious scholarship, deep spirituality, and competent service.

PROGRAM GOALS

- Goal 1: Doctor of Ministry degree recipients will give evidence that their professional lives as ministers have been enhanced in terms of ministerial effectiveness.
- Goal 2: The congregations (or other ministerial settings) of Doctor of Ministry degree recipients will give evidence that their corporate lives have been enhanced in terms of missional effectiveness.
- Goal 3: Doctor of Ministry degree recipients will give evidence that their professional lives have been enhanced in terms of spiritual depth in ministry.
- Goal 4: Doctor of Ministry degree recipients will give evidence of an enhanced praxis for ministry.

ADMISSION POLICIES

- The applicant must meet all general standards for admission to the School of Theology, as set forth in the current catalog.
- The applicant must hold the Master of Divinity degree, or its equivalent (72 hours), from an accredited theological school. Applicants should contact the Doctor of Ministry office for the specific course content for the M.Div. equivalency.
- The applicant must provide official transcripts and references demonstrating ability to do above average academic work. A GPA of 3.0 or above is required.
- The applicant must have been in a professional ministerial setting for at least three years after receiving the Master of Divinity degree or its equivalent and must be currently involved in professional ministry.
- Exceptions to the three-year period stated above may be made if the applicant has at least five years of full-time ministry experience, is at least 35 years of age, and has a GPA of 3.25 or above.
- The applicant must submit an application form including the fee, required essays and recommendations, and official undergraduate and graduate transcripts.
- Admission to the program is based on academic ability, performance in ministry, and clarity of purpose in seeking admission to the program.
- Advanced credit may be granted for up to six hours of DMIN courses or other doctoral theological coursework taken elsewhere.

APPLICATION

Application materials are available from the Doctor of Ministry office. Applications may be submitted at any time and will be reviewed as they are received. The ideal time for submitting an application is in April and May. If accepted, one would receive syllabi in June in order to prepare for the first course in the program in September. Interviews with each applicant may be conducted either before or after submission of application materials. The number of applicants admitted annually is limited. Therefore, applications who are approved after the maximum has been reached will be placed on a priority list for admission in the next class.

PROGRAM DESIGN

The Doctor of Ministry degree is a 32-hour program and includes a professional project that integrates ministerial context and biblical studies, theology, and church history. Participants will be on campus an average of three one-week sessions each academic year. One week of intensive sessions will be held in September, January, and April. Current course schedules are available upon request.

PROGRAM COST

Tuition and fees are published annually, and students are billed at the published rate for the current year in which they are enrolled.

Master of Divinity

DESCRIPTION AND GOALS

The purpose of the Master of Divinity degree is the spiritual and intellectual formation of people in the Christian ministry of biblical reconciliation in church and society. The MDiv degree is the basic ministerial leadership degree for those preparing for ordained ministry. This degree provides a broad preparation with a solid core in Bible, church history, theology, mission, and pastoral ministry.

The MDiv degree has been designed especially for men and women who are called to serve as pastors of traditional congregations or in the emerging church, institutional chaplains, missionaries, and denominational leaders. The specific goals of this degree are that its graduates will:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of hermeneutical principles for understanding texts and contexts.
2. Demonstrate skill in public and personal ministries.
3. Be characterized by Christian integrity, an outcome of this seminary's teaching of personal and corporate holiness.
4. Serve in ministry.

The School of Theology has carefully developed a curriculum plan intended to assist all students to reach the four goals listed above. The curriculum, detailed below, includes the totality of all learning experiences resulting from the curriculum plan, including domains such as cognitive, affective, behavioral, social, spiritual, and contextual, inside and outside the classroom, directed toward achieving objectives.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- Complete the formal admission process to the School of Theology, including the satisfaction of all entrance requirements.
- Submit a standard declaration of degree candidacy.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

- Remove, within the first 12 hours of graduate work, any undergraduate academic deficiencies identified at the time of admission to the School of Theology.
- Complete the orientation and testing program.
- Complete a minimum of 81 graduate-level semester hours, as listed below.
- Achieve a grade of C- or higher in all required courses.
- Maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5.

CURRICULUM

A student who attends full time and satisfactorily completes the courses listed in this sequence may expect to graduate in three years. A student who attends part time will need more than three years to complete the degree.

Master of Theological Studies

The Master of Theological Studies degree is offered in two tracks:

- Thesis Track for students preparing to enter PhD or ThD programs. Potential students are strongly encouraged to contact their chosen PhD program and ascertain whether this degree will satisfy its admission requirements.
- Non-Thesis Track for other students.

The Master of Theological Studies degree does not provide adequate preparation for pastoral ministry. Students who are preparing for ordained ministry are encouraged to enroll in the Master of Divinity degree.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Complete the process of formal admission to the School of Theology, including satisfaction of all entrance requirements.

For the Thesis Track:

1. Achieve an undergraduate grade point average of 3.0 or higher.
2. Write an academic paper according to guidelines available from the Office of Student Services.

3. Interview with a full-time faculty member (in either Bible, church history, theology, or mission), and receive that faculty member's written recommendation that this degree is an appropriate one given the prospective student's vocational and educational goals.
4. Complete all admission requirements by July 1 (for fall admission) or December 17 (for spring admission).

NON-THESIS TRACK

A student in the non-thesis track is required to successfully complete a comprehensive examination in Bible, theology, and history.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

- Remove, within the first 12 hours of graduate work, any undergraduate academic deficiencies identified at the time of admission to the School of Theology.
- Complete the orientation and testing program.
- Complete the minimum number of semester hours for the tracks listed below.
- Achieve a grade of C- or higher in all required courses.
- Maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5.

Online Master of Arts in Christian Ministry

The purpose of the Online Master of Arts in Christian Ministry degree is to provide a basic understanding of theological disciplines for those in the practice of Christian ministry.

This 48-hour program is offered primarily via the Internet, and is designed for those currently serving in local congregations. Students do most of their coursework on their own schedule. The School of Theology has scheduled courses in such a way that students can complete this program in three years.

Each course includes an on-campus component requiring 10 hours of face-to-face interaction between the professor and all the students in the class. Students must attend all 10 hours of the on-campus component for each course.

Students may take one to three courses each semester. The on-campus component of all courses offered in a given semester occurs during the same week (typically the second week of the semester), so students must make only one trip to campus per semester. Students are responsible for their own travel, lodging, and meals during the on-campus components.

The goals of the Online Master of Arts in Christian Ministry degree are:

- Cognitive: Graduates will demonstrate understanding of biblical literature, church history, theology, and the practice of ministry.
- Affective: Graduates will demonstrate passion for lifelong learning and improvement in ministry knowledge and skills.
- Behavioral: Graduates will demonstrate an increased level of ministerial skills in their context.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

- Complete 48 hours of courses.
- For each course, recruit a small group of adults in your local context and teach them for five hours using information learned in that course.
- For each course, travel to campus for 10 hours of face-to-face interaction in the classroom with the instructor and other students in the course.
- Take either HCUS 6010 (The Church of God Reformation Movement) or HCUS 6020 (Denominational History and Background).
- Achieve a grade of C- or above in all required courses.
- Maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5.

Master of Arts in Intercultural Service

It has been said that “only if the church understands the full biblical revelation of God concerning the mission of God’s people, stimulated by confronting Scripture with today’s questions, will they be responsibly challenged to offer to God the devotion of heart, strength, time, and resources essential to its completion” (Glasser). The Master of Arts in Intercultural Service is a 48-semester-hour degree program (a total of 16 courses) of graduate study designed to prepare individuals to serve the church in specific fields of mission and outreach. The degree is designed for those desiring to engage in intercultural ministries either in the United States or overseas, with concerns for both urban and rural contexts.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

In addition to the standard process of admission to the seminary, acceptance into this program requires an interview with the professor most closely related to the proposed program of study and a written essay as instructed by the professor.

Although admitted to the seminary with this degree program in view, students are not recognized as candidates for this degree until the above statement is written, the recommendation has been made, and a detailed program of studies has been developed and approved. This process should be initiated during the student's first semester in seminary.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

- Remove, within the first 12 hours of graduate work, any undergraduate academic deficiencies identified at the time of admission to the School of Theology.
- Complete the orientation and testing program.
- Achieve a grade of C- or above in all required courses.
- Maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5.
- Complete a minimum of 48 graduate-level semester hours, including the courses listed below.

Preparing for intercultural ministry

When I learned there was a degree specifically for missions and urban ministry at the School of Theology, that was my confirmation to enroll. The M.A.I.S. degree offers a well-rounded missional and educational experience that equips students with not only knowledge, but a passion for missions. I have experienced much growth and a heightened understanding through their willingness to share about their experiences on the mission field.

— Tasha De LaVergne, '08 Master of Arts in Intercultural Service graduate.

Theological Field Education

STATEMENT OF PHILOSOPHY

The integration of the classroom experience with the practice of ministry is a major concern of the seminary. Therefore, several areas of supervised theological field education are required. With supervision from pastoral supervisors, mentors, associates in ministerial training, and others in the practice of Christian ministry, students are given the opportunity to interpret, translate, and integrate knowledge gained in the classroom into the practice of ministry in various ministry settings.

Theological Field Education primarily occurs in the local congregation, though many other ministry settings offer constructive contexts for supervision and mentoring. The internship program brings students together with selected field supervisors for supervised assignments in ministry. Additional non-parish experiences are available. These are in institutional chaplaincies, national parks ministries, global mission ministry, and urban ministries. In these contexts, students lessen the distance between the classroom and the practice of ministry.

CLINICAL PASTORAL EDUCATION

The School of Theology is a member of the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education, an organization of accredited clinical pastoral training opportunities for theological students and clergy. There are more than 350 approved CPE sites in this county in clinical, medical, and psychiatric hospitals, parishes, prisons, and other settings. A basic unit of CPE consists of at least 300 clinical hours and 100 educational hours. The basic unit is available in a variety of forms to meet students' scheduling concerns:

- Traditional: daily, 40 hours per week for 10 weeks.
- Extended: 16-20 hours per week for 20-24 weeks.
- Other variations

Academic credit is given for the satisfactory completion of such an accredited program.

SERVICE OPPORTUNITIES

Service opportunities are made available through regular courses, special seminars, and campus guests. Service in the urban settings occurs in a rich variety of contexts, congregational styles, ministry models, and leadership styles.

Anderson University School of Theology will cooperate with a variety of programs which provide exposure to and training for ministry. Opportunities include:

- Special assignments in Theological Field Education, including national parks ministry; scouting; chaplaincy; Appalachian ministries, with a focus on rural ministry; and internships, with a focus on smaller churches.
- Other internship/contextual education opportunities, including cross-cultural ministry and research, clinical pastoral internship, internship in educational ministry, or internship in worship.

Believing that knowledge is to be tested in experience, internships, practicums, clinical training, workshops, and field education are viewed as essential curricular ingredients.

HEART INSTITUTE

The HEART Institute's mission is to equip Christian workers with practical skills in cultural adaptation, problem solving, and community development for the purpose of sharing the good news of God's love. Ideal for individuals considering ministry in the Third World, various programs are offered throughout the year. Academic and practical learning are combined while students reside in the HEART village, where many aspects of Third-World living are simulated. Areas of focus include cross-cultural communications, appropriate technology, primary health, bio-intensive gardening, nutrition and food technology, and small-animal husbandry. The HEART Institute is on the campus of Warner University in Lake Wales, Fla. A matching scholarship is available. For more information about this exciting venture in missionary training, please contact Dr. MaryAnn Hawkins at (765) 641-4535.

Harp Professor in Residence

The Harry and Henrietta Harp Professor in Residence is an appointed faculty position created through an endowment by the Harp and York families to honor the lives of their parents, the Rev. Harry and Mrs. Henrietta Harp. This program was inaugurated in 2008.

During his ministry in the Church of God (Anderson, Ind.) from 1927 to 1955, the Rev. Harp served congregations in Michigan, Kentucky, Wisconsin, and Georgia. He served with the Executive Council of the Church of God, the World Service Commission of the Church of God, and the Southern Minister's Convention for many years. Mrs. Harp, also active in the Church of God, served in both regional and national roles with the Women of the Church of God.

The purpose of the Harry and Henrietta Harp Professor in Residence is to identify and appoint a faculty member with expertise in a field deemed critical to the educational life and instructional programming of the School of Theology. The responsibility for identification, selection, and appointment rests with the dean of the School of Theology.

Harp Professors in Residence include:

- Dr. Gregory Robertson, Anderson University School of Theology, 2008
- Dr. Robert Lang'at, Kenya Highlands Bible College, Kenya, 2009
- Dr. Wendy Porter, McMaster Divinity, Canada, 2010
- Dr. Paulson Pulikottil, Union Biblical Seminary, India, 2011

Center for Christian Leadership

The Center for Christian Leadership, which is committed to “equipping God’s disciples for the kingdom’s service,” is a non-degree-seeking (continuing-education, unit-based) study program of the Anderson University School of Theology. Established in 1972 by the General Assembly of the Church of God, the center focuses on continuing education — for both pastors and laity — through independent study courses created and written by university and seminary faculty. Additionally, the center coordinates the annual endowed Newell Lectures in Biblical Studies and the public lectures presented by the Harp Professor in Residence.

As a program of the School of Theology, the center serves as an agency through which continuing education programs for both pastors and laity are developed, administered, and recorded for those enrolled in Continuing Education Unit (CEU) study. The center offers the Certification in Christian Ministry, with tracks in ministerial studies or Christian studies. The center also offers a unique Certification in Aging Ministries for those working with senior adults within congregational settings.

The center also works with pastors and laity outside the contiguous United States by serving those in the Churches of God in Canada as well as through La Buena Tierra Seminary in Mexico; the Church of God (Ecclesia) in Shillong, India; and the Church of God, London. The center additionally has a cooperative educational program with the Instituto Biblico Hispano and Concilio of the Church of God.

NEWELL LECTURESHIP IN BIBLICAL STUDIES

Dr. and Mrs. Arlo and Helen Newell created the Newell Lectureship in 1981. The purpose of the lectureship is to bring a significant specialist in the field of biblical studies to Anderson University on an annual basis. This annual lectureship is coordinated by the Center for Christian Leadership with recommendation of the speaker coming from the Bible faculty of the School of Theology. For a complete list of all lecturers and topics since 1982, please see the Anderson University School of Theology Web site under the Center for Christian Leadership.

Academic Policies

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Anderson University School of Theology seeks to support and promote qualities of academic honesty and personal integrity. The seminary regards cheating, plagiarism, and all other forms of academic dishonesty as serious offenses against the school's community. Such offenses will be dealt with in an appropriate manner. (See Appendix on "Policy on Academic Integrity," in the School of Theology Student Handbook.)

GRADING SYSTEM

Grade reports are issued by the registrar's office in the following terms:

- A (excellent)
- A-
- B+
- B (good)
- B-
- C+
- C
- C-
- D+
- D (poor)
- F (failure)
- I (incomplete)
- S (work completed at C- level or above)
- U (work completed at D+ level or below)
- W (official withdrawal)

INCOMPLETE GRADING

An "incomplete" grade is reserved for emergency situations only. It is granted by special action of the course professor based on a written and signed petition submitted by the student to the professor at least one week before the final day of classes. The petition must include an explanation of the extraordinary circumstances which necessitate an extension in time to complete course materials. All incomplete grades must be removed within the time specified by written agreement with the professor, but no later than the end of the first full semester following the term of initial registration. Failure to complete materials as agreed to in the written extension will result in the grade being converted from an incomplete to an F. Incomplete grades are discouraged for special arrangement courses.

SATISFACTORY/UNSATISFACTORY GRADING

Students may choose to take certain courses on a satisfactory/unsatisfactory (S/U) basis. This alternate grading system applies only to those courses which include S/U registration in the course description, as noted in the catalog. While S/U registration is usually optional, there are a few courses which must be graded S/U. Students who register for S/U grading have until the end of the fifth week of the term to change to the regular grading system. Hours earned in S/U courses are not computed in the cumulative GPA.

CREDIT POINTS AND SEMESTER HOURS

A semester hour is coursework equivalent to one class hour per week for a semester. A "credit point" is a measure of the quality of work performed. Credit points are figured only on work completed at Anderson University. Credit transferred from other institutions is not included in this calculation. The credit point index is the ratio of the number of credit points earned to the number of hours attempted (excluding S, U, and W). No credit points are given for courses bearing grades of S, U, F, I, or W.

Credit Points per Semester Hour

• A = 4.00	• B+ = 3.33	• C+ = 2.33	• D+ = 1.33
• A- = 3.67	• B = 3.00	• C = 2.00	• D = 1.00
	• B- = 2.67	• C- = 1.67

GRADE POINT AVERAGE

Grade point average (GPA) is computed by dividing the total number of credit points accumulated in courses for which a grade of A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+, C, C-, D+, D, or F has been assigned by the total number of hours attempted in those courses. Courses for which a grade of S, U, I, or W has been assigned are not included in computing the GPA. When a course is repeated to improve or replace an existing grade, only the hours and credit points for the latest grade assigned for that course are counted toward the total hours attempted and total credit points. The following example shows how semester and cumulative GPAs are calculated:

Course	Hours Attempted	Grade	Credit Points
BIST 5131	3	C+	6.99
BIST 5330	3	B	9.00
THST 5101	3	A-	11.01
HCUS 5020	3	D	3.00
HCUS 6010	3	F	0.00
Current semester	15		30.00
Previous semesters	27		74.00
Cumulative Total	42		104.00

• Calculating Semester GPA

$$\begin{array}{r} 30.00 \text{ credit points} \\ \div 15 \text{ hours attempted} \\ = \mathbf{2.00 \text{ GPA}} \end{array}$$

• Calculating Cumulative GPA

$$\begin{array}{r} 104.00 \text{ credit points} \\ \div 42 \text{ hours attempted} \\ = \mathbf{2.48 \text{ GPA}} \end{array}$$

A grade of C- or above is necessary to satisfy the requirements for all required courses in any seminary degree program. Students are expected to maintain a cumulative GPA of 2.5.

ADVISING AND REGISTRATION

Full-time students will register for no less than 12 and no more than 17 hours per semester. A maximum of 18 hours is permitted if warranted by previous academic performance (cumulative GPA of 3.25 or above for previous semester) and by employment commitments (see the following guidelines). Registration beyond 17 hours requires written permission from the dean of the School of Theology, and beyond 19 hours a cumulative GPA of 3.50.

WITHDRAWING FROM COURSES

Students may withdraw from courses within the first five weeks of the term with no record of the registrations added to their transcripts. A grade of W will be given if withdrawal occurs between the sixth and 10th weeks of the term. After the 10th week, the regular grading system prevails.

REPEATING COURSES

Students may repeat any graduate course for the purpose of achieving a higher grade and thus raising the cumulative GPA. Courses specifically required by course title in a degree program must be repeated if a grade of C- or above has not been achieved. When a course is repeated, both grades achieved appear on the transcript, but only the higher grade is computed in the cumulative grade point average.

AUDITING COURSES

Auditing courses of special interest is one means of potential enrichment for students. With consent of the course instructor, a full-time student or spouse of the full-time student in the seminary may audit one course each semester without additional tuition. Other students or individuals who qualify as special students may audit courses with payment of an audit fee. Permanent record of an audit is kept only when a student registers as an auditor, is regular in class attendance, and meets any minimum standards stated for auditors in the class syllabus.

CONSENT TO REGISTER FOR A COURSE

Some courses require a prerequisite. These courses are noted in the “Course Descriptions” section of this catalog. If you do not meet the prerequisite or the class is full, you must receive the signature of the course instructor to enroll in the course.

CONCURRENT REGISTRATION/GRADUATE-UNDERGRADUATE

The School of Theology’s participation in the larger life of Anderson University makes it possible for students to take advantage of the diverse and quality academic programming of the university. Graduate students admitted to seminary with academic deficiencies may remove these through appropriate concurrent work at Anderson University (see “Admission Requirements and Procedures” in this catalog). In this circumstance, and only with written authorization of the dean of the School of Theology, graduate students may register for undergraduate classes at the seminary’s per-hour tuition rate. Such concurrent registration is charged in addition to the appropriate charges for seminary registration. For example, 12 hours in the seminary, concurrent with four hours in the university, totals the full-time seminary tuition rate plus four hours charged at the per-hour seminary rate.

FACULTY ADVISORS

Students are assigned faculty advisors with whom to counsel on all phases of the academic program. Advisors seek to keep fully informed on students’ progress, but students must take responsibility for final course selections.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT COURSES

Occasionally, students wish to pursue a regular catalog course on a reading or tutorial basis, either because of the individualized nature of the study or because of a scheduling conflict. All such arrangements must be made with the appropriate professor and are subject to faculty availability. Faculty members normally do not supervise reading courses during semesters I and II. Guidelines are available in the Office of the Dean.

In regard to all specially arranged courses, it is assumed that regular academic standards apply. Course requirements will be put in writing at the beginning of the study period and will compensate for the lack of classroom participation. Required courses normally are not available on this basis, and other courses may also be excluded by faculty judgment that the course in question is not adaptable to an individualized format.

Students with middler or senior status and GPAs of 3.0 or above may request specially arranged courses. Incomplete grades are discouraged in these situations.

THESIS

A thesis is an extensive and formally written study employing the process and results of systematic and original research on a significant issue related to the student’s field of academic concentration. A thesis or project may be elected as part of a degree program, subject to departmental approval. For information on developing a thesis or project, please refer to the School of Theology’s Guide to Graduate Theological Research and Writing, available at www.anderson.edu/sot/guide.

ATTENDANCE AND RESIDENCY

Attendance is expected for all classes. Attendance is also expected in all chapel services, lectureships, and special programs sponsored by the School of Theology.

Because of the importance of a comprehensive community of learning, degrees offered by the School of Theology are not viewed simply as an accumulation of courses or of individual independent work. Therefore, to ensure an appropriate educational community, at least one year of full-time academic study or its equivalent (24 hours) must be completed within the Anderson University School of Theology curriculum.

GRADUATION POLICIES

To graduate, students must be in good standing with the School of Theology and must have financial arrangements satisfactorily made with the university business office. All incomplete grades must be removed, all institutional examination results recorded, and transfer credits from other institutions must be received by the registrar's office by April 1 of the year of graduation.

APPLICATION FOR GRADUATION

Students must apply for graduation at least one full semester in advance of the anticipated completion of their degree program. Application for graduation should be made in the fall semester (semester I) of the year the student plans to graduate. Applications must be on file in the Office of Student Services by the designated deadline to allow sufficient time for processing:

- December graduates must file application for graduation by Oct. 1.
- May graduates must file application by Nov. 1.
- August graduates must file by Dec. 30.

Students normally meet the requirements of their matriculation catalog. A student's catalog expires 10 years after matriculation. If a student wishes to change to the current catalog, they must formally request a change of catalog. If a catalog has expired, the student must meet requirements of the catalog current in the year of graduation. In matters of course standards, prerequisites, eligibility to continue, and other academic policies, students are subject to the regulations and procedures of the current academic year.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

All degree candidates are expected to participate in the annual commencement exercises in order to receive their diplomas. Should extraordinary circumstance necessitate a petition to graduate in absentia, this petition must be received by the dean of the School of Theology at least 60 days before the scheduled commencement exercises.

Students who are scheduled to complete all requirements for graduation by the end of the summer shall participate in the regular commencement exercises in the spring of the same year. They will receive their diplomas at the conclusion of the summer. Normally, no more than six semester hours of academic work may be in progress at the time of commencement. Students with unfulfilled dissertations, theses, project requirements, or comprehensive examinations may not participate in commencement until the following year.

GRADUATION HONORS

The School of Theology maintains two honors programs which recognize graduates who have distinguished themselves either academically or professionally:

- Academic honors: All students who achieve a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.75 will be graduated with academic honors.
- Professional distinction: The faculty may designate any student to graduate with professional distinction in a specific discipline or skill.

In some cases, a student may graduate with both academic honors and professional distinction.

Course Descriptions

The program of preparation and training offered in the School of Theology recognizes the crucial role of the minister as pastor, teacher, and leader of the people in the Christian community. It recognizes also that no one can be a true interpreter of the message of Christianity without personally having experienced the meaning and power of the Gospel. Special concern, therefore, is shown for the development of the spiritual life of students.

Courses of study become channels of intellectual development and spiritual attainment. To the end that the dual purposes of the church, ingathering and upbuilding, might be accomplished, the School of Theology divides its curriculum into six divisions with the work of each finding its ultimate reference in the Bible. Each course offered by the School of Theology includes a four-letter caption that identifies the division under which it is offered. The divisions and captions include:

- Biblical Studies (BIST)
- Doctor of Ministry (DMIN)
- Historical and Intercultural Studies (HCUS)
- Pastoral Studies (PAST)
- Theological Field Education (THFE)
- Theological and Philosophical Studies (THST)

Courses are numbered in the order in which they would normally be taken (i.e., 5000-level courses should be taken in the first year, 6000 the second, and 7000 the third year). Although strict adherence to this sequence is not mandated, except as specific prerequisites are stated, the system provides a guide for planning all degree programs.

In addition to courses listed in the catalog, the School of Theology may offer special courses for any division under the numbers 5600 and 6600.

Doctor of Ministry Courses

Faculty: John H. Aukerman, Guy R. Brewer, MaryAnn Hawkins, James W. Lewis, Gregory Robertson, David L. Sebastian

It is assumed that participants in the Doctor of Ministry program are seasoned ministers who already have a basic theological education and have served in professional ministry for at least three years following that basic academic work. They have had the opportunity to factor into their ministry the fruits of such work. In DMIN courses, they return to an academic setting to reflect more critically on ministry within the context of particular settings for ministry. These courses are designed to provide the environment in which fellow professionals can work together in a collegial manner. The instructors for these courses serve as both academic practitioners who bring resources and insights to the class and as facilitators of the group process that allows for learning from each other in the class.

DMIN COURSES

- 7000 Introduction to Doctor of Ministry Studies 3 hrs.
Initiation into the philosophy and procedures of Doctor of Ministry studies, introduction to the nature of the two tracks offered (Christian spiritual formation and Christian leadership development), and the beginning of an assessment of ministerial contexts. NOTE: Required course for all DMin participants.
- 7020 Reflective Practicum 3 hrs. (1 hr. each year for 3 intensives)
Contact hours with other participants and reading and reflection in biblical exegesis, current theological trends, and contemporary cultural perspectives; one credit hour each. NOTE: Required course for all DMin participants.
- 7211 Conflict Transformation 3 hrs.
How Christian leaders work with people in conflict for the purpose of redemptive transformation. NOTE: Required course for DMin participants pursuing the Christian leadership development track. Formerly DMIN 7210.
- 7220 Christian Leadership Skills in Differing Contexts 3 hrs.
How various social, missional, cultural, demographic settings call for different leadership strategies. NOTE: Required course for DMin participants pursuing the Christian leadership development track.
- 7251 Christian Leadership in a Postmodern World 3 hrs.
How postmodern ways of thinking and acting affect ministry. NOTE: Required course for DMin participants pursuing the Christian leadership development track. Formerly DMIN 7250.
- 7270 Personal Life in the Spirit 3 hrs.
Further development of the participant's own spiritual life and how one might lead others into a deeper spiritual life. NOTE: Required course for DMin participants pursuing the Christian spiritual formation track.
- 7431 Crucial Issues in Christian Discipleship 3 hrs.
A study of New Testament understandings of following Jesus, how those understandings are lived out in the contemporary world, and how local communities of faith go about enabling people to be serious Christ-followers. NOTE: Required course for DMin participants pursuing the Christian spiritual formation track. Formerly DMIN 7430.
- 7471 Participation in the Christian Community 3 hrs.
The communal nature of being Christian, and the challenges and benefits of congregational, connectional, and global expressions of church life. NOTE: Required course for DMin participants pursuing the Christian spiritual formation track. Formerly DMIN 7470.

- 7900 Research and Writing 3 hrs.
On the basis of doctoral-level standards and methods, the development of the first of three drafts of the proposal for the dissertation/project. NOTE: Required course for all DMin participants.
- 8350 Theology, Practice, and Assessment of Ministry 3 hrs.
Consideration of theological framework for ministry, evaluation of practices of ministry, and assessment of each participant's current place in ministry. NOTE: Required course for all DMin participants.
- 8650 Guided Independent Study 3 hrs.
A reading and writing course designed by an assigned professor in a subject that is directly related to one's track and/or dissertation/project.
- 8950 Professional Project 1-5 hrs.
A major research effort that focuses on a challenge, a problem, or an issue in the practice of ministry, and does so either for the purpose of contributing to the general knowledge about the practice of ministry (i.e., dissertation) or for the purpose of bringing about a specific change in one's local context of ministry (i.e., project). NOTE: Required course for all DMin participants. Library approval required prior to completion of thesis. Participants may register for 1-5 hours per semester; total of 5 hours.
- 8960 Project Continuation 1 hr.
Required registration for those with no program hours remaining for every semester until program is completed.

Master's Degree Courses

Biblical Studies

Faculty: Kimberly S. Majeski, Barry L. Ross

Associate Faculty: Robert Branson, Fredrick W. Burnett, Fredrick H. Shively

Christian ministers are entrusted with the proclamation and exposition of the entire Bible. The intertextual relationships within Scripture call for study of the canonical whole without division. Knowledge of the social and cultural background, literary sensitivity, canonical consciousness, and skills in exegesis are essential for faithful presentation of the Scriptures. The hermeneutical quest is essential to discern the abiding message. The Department of Biblical Studies seeks to help the seminarian in these areas for a lifelong ministry in the Scriptures.

Students are encouraged to become familiar with the methods and linguistic tools of research, so that the biblical materials may be handled confidently and faithfully in preaching and teaching God's good news today.

BIST COURSES

- 5050 Narrative Witness to Christ 3 hrs.
This is an introductory course to the interpretation of New Testament narrative literature. Luke/Acts will be studied inductively. Literary and narrative analyses of the text are employed to identify methods and themes of the texts. The Jubilee context and content of Jesus' teaching in Luke is given special attention. The literary, geopolitical, and sociohistorical context of Luke's two-part presentation also is investigated. Theological and Philosophical Studies

Faculty: John H. Aukerman, James W. Lewis, Gregory Robertson, Merle D. Strege

The purpose of theological studies is to introduce students to the intellectual history of the Christian church, engage them in contemporary reflection on and interpretation of the Christian faith, and provide them with the context for developing skills in critical theological reflection. Theological studies offer students the opportunity to identify, clarify, and critique basic structures of theological thought and to give systematic consideration to the wide range of statements of truth, doctrines, theologies, and perspectives in the Christian faith; and serves as a means of integrating both historical studies and studies in the church's life, mission, and ministry.

Philosophical studies offer students the opportunity for critical reflection on the intellectual life itself as it relates to the faith of the church.

We Believe

Produced by Anderson University School of Theology Faculty and Staff, 2003

We believe in one eternal, holy, and loving God who calls us to respond in faith. We, therefore, give the following testimony of our faith, realizing that for testimonies of faith to be Christian, they must conform to God's revelation in the Holy Scriptures. Although we can never put into a short document all that we are taught in the Bible, we do affirm the following.

REVELATION

God is revealed generally in the created order and in the human conscience. This Living God, however, has spoken specially to us in the covenantal story of the whole of Scripture and definitively in Jesus Christ.

We believe in, treasure, and cherish the Bible as the written Word of God, and hold that the 66 books of the Protestant biblical canon constitute the Holy Scriptures. We believe that both the Old and New Testaments are necessary for understanding God's revelation in Scripture, both of which are to be interpreted in light of the revelation given to us in Jesus Christ. The Bible is inspired by God, and is fully authoritative and sufficient for Christian life and practice. We further believe that the Bible is historically reliable, and that its message is faithfully preserved in the textual tradition.

We rejoice that the biblical Gospel is the good news of God's love to our world!

GOD

We believe in one God in three persons — Father, Son, and Holy Spirit — who created all things visible and invisible, and out of chaos created order. Our hearts are made glad that God is fully revealed in the Lord Jesus Christ, the incarnate Son of God, who was born to the Virgin Mary through the agency of the Holy Spirit, and lived on earth as both fully human and fully divine. We are grateful that the Holy Spirit leads us into all truth, convicts us of sin, leads us to and incorporates us into Christ, and empowers us for Christian witness.

We worship the one eternally triune God!

SIN AND SALVATION

We acknowledge that all have sinned, thus breaking our relationships with God, self, others, and the whole created order, but give thanks for God's salvation from sin.

We believe that through his exemplary life, sacrificial death, and bodily resurrection, Jesus Christ is the only sufficient atonement for our sins. In keeping with the messianic prophecies of the Old Testament, Jesus died on the cross and was raised for our salvation. He returned to the Father and there intercedes for us. God's work of salvation is all by grace, not by our merits. We receive this great salvation when by the convicting power of the Holy Spirit we repent of our sin and believe in Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord. We hold that we are secure in our salvation so long as we remain faithful to Christ. We are grateful that the same power that raised Christ from the dead raises us from spiritual death, saving us from sin to follow Christ in this life and to live with him eternally.

We believe that it is God's will for us to live in holiness. Indeed, it is God who makes us holy. We, however, are called to present ourselves as living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God for the sake of God's mission in the world. We understand the life of holiness to be wholehearted love for God and neighbor. Although we are never to seek suffering for the sake of suffering, we are convinced that holiness often is deepened through life's inevitable sufferings. Furthermore, Christ invites us to participate in his sufferings in this fallen world.

We recognize with Scripture that Satan and demons exist as spiritual realities in opposition to God. But we are grateful that God has conquered all sin and evil, thereby giving us victory both now and forever. Great is the salvation of our God!

THE KINGDOM OF GOD

With gratitude we believe that we experience the Reign of God as the presence, love, and power of God in our lives, in the church, in history, and in the whole created order, now and in the future consummation.

We believe that Jesus lived and proclaimed the Reign of God, a life of reconciliation and peacemaking in fulfillment of the Law and Prophets. Under the Reign of God, we are required to do justice, to love kindness, and to walk humbly with God.

We believe that God comes alongside the vulnerable and oppressed, and stands against every form of evil, even when found in the institutional church. As the people of God we, too, are called to make justice and to intervene when injustice occurs.

We anticipate the future consummation of the Reign of God, at the time of the one and only return of our Lord, who will carry out final judgment separating the righteous and the unrighteous.

"Even so, come Lord Jesus!"

THE CHURCH

We believe the church is the fellowship of the redeemed, the body of Christ, the people of God, chosen by God for mission in the world.

At the beginning of time, God created humankind to be partners in mission. However, humankind failed in this partnership. In the course of time, though, God chose Israel to bless all peoples. But in the fullness of time it was in Jesus Christ that God brought salvation for all people. And until the end of time, God has chosen the church to be the body of Christ with the mission of making disciples. It is for this purpose that God continually reforms the church so that it will be conformed to the image of Christ.

We are grateful that in fulfillment of Jesus' promise, God poured out the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost. We believe that the evidence of this outpouring is the personal holiness of God's people and their empowerment for divine mission in the world. The Holy Spirit distributes a variety of spiritual gifts among all members of the church for accomplishing this mission.

We believe God calls all people to respond in faith to the Gospel of Jesus Christ whereby they become members of the universal church of God. With Christ as the head, this community is the body of Christ on earth. We understand each local congregation to be an expression of this universal church, and that it is God's will for each believer to be a committed member of a local congregation.

In obedience to our Lord, we baptize believers by immersion as a sign of death to sin, resurrection to new life in Christ, and incorporation into the mission of the people of God. We celebrate the Lord's Supper as participation in and proclamation of the death and resurrection of our Lord until he comes. We wash each other's feet, following Jesus who assumed the role of servant by washing the feet of his disciples. We anoint with oil in the name of the Lord and pray that people may be healed.

We believe that all who repent and confess Jesus Christ as their personal Savior and Lord are part of the church of God. We seek mutually enriching fellowship with all who share this personal faith. Aware of racial, cultural, and other diversity around the globe, we are committed to working for the visible unity of the one church that is rooted in biblical faith.

Our Lord empowers believers to do the work of ministry. Jesus instructed us to model our ministries and manner of leadership after his example of being a servant rather than seeking positions of power. We understand that it is the church's responsibility, in response to God's call, to appoint and equip gifted women and men to a variety of leadership responsibilities for building up the body of Christ.

We praise God for the privilege of participating in the life of the church!

CONCLUDING AFFIRMATION

In devotion to Christ as the head of the church, we desire to be a biblical people, a people who worship the triune God, a people transformed by the grace of God, a people of the Kingdom of God, a people committed to building up the one, universal church of God, and a people who in God's love care for the whole world.
