Financial aid policies

The Financial Aid and Awards Committee makes awards based on available funds for 2008-09.

To be eligible for financial aid, a student must be:

- fully accepted by the School of Theology
- a student in good standing
- working toward a degree in the School of Theology
- making satisfactory academic progress, as defined in the School of Theology Student Handbook

No student will receive financial aid beyond the cost of tuition each semester.

Non Church of God students will be considered for financial aid upon registration each semester, based on the available funds for that academic year.

The following chart illustrates tuition costs:

Semester hours enrolled	Tuition per semester
12-16	$ 5,460
11	5,005
10	4,550
9	4,095
8	3,640
7	3,185
6	2,730
5	2,275
4	1,820
3	1,365
2	910
1	455

Additional fees are listed below:

- Students taking 17 or more hours per semester will be charged $220 per hour, as eligible, for each hour taken in excess of 16 hours.
- Application fee (paid once): $25.
- Seminary testing fee: $70.
- Seminary community fee (per semester, if enrolled in 6 or more hours): $20.
- Auditing fee (per semester hour): $110.

- Change in registration (after first week): $30.
- Late registration fee: $50
- Thesis fee: $85.

Since the School of Theology offers several master's-level degree programs, students sometimes seek multiple degrees. After a student completes one degree program and returns to seek another degree, for financial aid purposes, that student will start over again at zero hours, and aid will be awarded accordingly.

Financial aid generally will NOT be awarded to a student whose incompletes have NOT been removed within four months of the final day of any academic term.

Tuition and awards for qualified Church of God students only

Church of God students will be eligible to receive a total financial aid package, which includes both Boyce W. Blackwelder Seminary Tuition Fund and endowed scholarships, at the percentage level indicated in the table below. Each student is expected to complete and return the Financial Aid Request Form. Current students who were enrolled in classes during Semester II, 2007-08, must submit the Financial Aid Request form before May 31, 2008, and must pre-register for Semester I, 2008-09.

The Financial Aid Committee is projecting an award of 55 percent of tuition costs for qualified Church of God students who register for 12-16 hours per semester. For students who register for less than full-time, awards are made at a different percentage rate. No aid will be awarded to students who register for less than six hours per semester.
